*P3a. Description:

This is small single story Mediterranean Revival house. The residence is L-shape in plan with a cross gable roof. The roof is Mission tile. The gable end is finished with a decorative row of Mission tile and has a ceramic tile pipe attic vent. A covered porch is cut into the west side of the façade. The porch roof is supported on stuccoed posts. A horizontally emphasized fixed central window with double hung sidelights occupies the projecting gable wall, while a long casement window is found on the west side of the front façade. Other fenestration is double hung. Cladding is stucco. The house is sited on an incline and is two-story at the rear along the alley.

Single Family Applicable Criteria: A / C

Period of Significance: 1847-1940

Property Type:

The house is a good example of a simple Mediterranean Revival Style residence from the period of the 1930s. It does not appear to have undergone any major alterations and retains its integrity of design, materials, workmanship, setting, location and association. It is typical of infill housing that was constructed in the downtown area in the 1920s and 1930s. The early 20th century was a period of limited economic growth in the town with only a small number of modest residences added to the housing stock. The house currently is a contributor to the Downtown Historic District and should retain this status.
