UNION PACIFIC'S CALIFORNIA HERITAGE

In California, Union Pacific serves the rich agricultural central valley, the Port of Oakland and the San Francisco Bay area, as well as the Los Angeles metropolitan area with its two major ports at Los Angeles and Long Beach.

Along the West Coast, the "I-5/Hwy 99 Corridor" offers the most efficient north-south transportation service to freight customers in all three Pacific Coast states. This service ties to main east-west corridors at Portland, Oakland and Los Angeles.

In Northern California, Union Pacific handles import-export automobile traffic at Benicia. In Southern California, Union Pacific serves major automobile distribution centers. Union Pacific trains carry extensive varieties of import-export traffic through its Intermodal Container Transfer Facility (ICTF) near the Los Angeles-Long Beach harbors. The railroad also moves chemicals and manufactured goods, as well as fruits, vegetables and canned goods in the Golden State.

Angeles/Long Beach harbor complex to downtown Los Angeles rail yards. Completed in 2002, this $2 billion-plus construction effort improved safety and vehicle traffic flow by eliminating 209 grade-level street/rail crossings and doubled the speed of freight trains using the corridor.

Union Pacific operates intermodal facilities in Oakland, Stockton, Long Beach and Los Angeles. Other terminal operations are located in Roseville, Lathrop, Commerce, West Colton and Yermo. Daily Amtrak services as well as extensive commuter trains operate on Union Pacific track throughout the state.

Union Pacific's capital investment in California from 2010 to 2014 was more than $1.6 billion.

SUPPORTING THE COMMUNITIES WE SERVE

In 2014, Union Pacific donated more than $1.6 million to California charitable organizations such as United Way of Fresno, Long Beach Police Foundation and Desert Aids Project. These charities were reached through a combination of the Union Pacific Foundation, matching gifts and corporate contributions. The Union Pacific Foundation is the primary philanthropic arm of Union Pacific Corporation and has distributed funds since 1959 to qualified organizations in communities served by Union Pacific.
